

2- day Audit Workshop / Seminar on Advanced Auditing ----transiting from Auditors to Governance Partners.

Overview:

The voice of corporate governance today is about corporate disclosure, transparency, and shareholders' value. These are high on the agenda for businesses and non-businesses operations globally. Why is this so now? Largely due to the shockwave from poor governance that exposed massive profit manipulation, deceptive accounting, and appalling audit processes. Today's wave of change has elevated the profile of good corporate governance. How does internal audit support the board and management in meeting these agendas, or how does it provide the services that enhanced good corporate governance?

It is beyond doubt that internal auditors still face challenges. They need the courage to confront matters related to board and management's values, integrity, responsibility and transparency. Effective internal audit will yield good reports that are useful and value-added to the management and board. Today, investors, shareholders, audit committees and regulators are transforming internal auditing into the core or epi-centre of risk definition, risk quantification, risk monitoring and risk management. Participants of this seminar will share, understand, and explore how these audit and review concepts are evolving or put into practices.

Objective of the seminar:

Among the deliverables that this seminar intends to provide for attendees are to:

- develop audit priorities more effectively using the risk-based auditing approach.
- learn to effectively evaluate the intangible risk impacts and negative consequences.
- evaluate the soft controls using the full range of self-assessment of controls.
- discover how to identify and evaluate and document corporate internal controls.
- map and review corporate governance requirements.
- identify practical solutions with management rather than just pointing out fingers.
- improve audit performance success and reputation by adopting more up to date audit techniques and approaches.
- delve into the assurance and consulting services that go beyond just auditing.
- discuss modern ways of auditing today for board and management's value-add versus the older days of fault-finding and basic compliance roles.

- learn and acquire good techniques and concepts of effective audit negotiations.
- impart the skill for audit managers/in charge to possess more effective supervising of audit team and department.
- acquire better insights of how to be a good auditor in charge and the superior audit planning that will assure better audit.
